About RISSE

The Risk and Insurance Industry Summit for Student Engagement (RISSE) is a unique seminar format that brings a diverse group of industry professionals together with St. Mary's University Finance and Risk Management students for roundtable discussions about relevant industry topics. The students kick off each roundtable discussion with an introduction to their topics based on their research.

Seminar attendance is limited to ensure meaningful engagement and active participation by all. RISSE provides a platform for students to build professional relationships, gain industry knowledge and strengthen their opportunities for successful entry into the risk management and insurance field.

The mix of risk management, insurance brokerage and insurance company representatives makes RISSE unique among industry conferences.
